TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Whereas; Brother John B. Simms, the faithful and efficient Junior Deacon of Mimosa Lodge, No. 542. F. & A. M., departed this life on Oct. 31st. 1893, at his home in Lawrenceburg, Tenn., after a brief illness, surrounded by his family, friends, and brethren of the Masonic fraternity. And, Whereas, feeling deeply the loss this lodge sustains in the death of one, who always took a lively interest in all things pertaining to the fraternity knowing him to be a good neighbor, a kind and affectionate husband and father, ready always to respond to calls of charity, therefore, be it

Resolved; That we deplore the untimely death of Bro. Simms, that we will imitate his virtues and cover with the broad mantle of Masonic charity whatever faults he may have had, and that we will all take this sad dispensation as another lesson in mortality to our individual profit.

Resolved further; That as a lodge we tender the family of the deceased our sincere sympathy and condolence, and in this their hour of bereavement, we can only bid them look to the Grand Master of the Universe, who has promised to be "a husband to the widow and a father to the orphan."

Resolved further, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the family of the deceased, that the same be spread upon our minutes and also published in the city papers.

Resolved further, That the lodge as a mark of respect for the memory of Brother Simms, wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

There has been some complaint made by some of our subscribers that they did not get the Democrat on time; some fail to get it some weeks altogether. This is something that we do not understand; as we mail our papers every Friday, in time for the South-bound Mail. It would be appreciated by us, if our subscribers would drop us a card notifying us any time they fail to get their paper, and we will have the matter investigated by the department.

Isn't it a nice showing for either the boys or the boy's parents of any town that a policeman has to be employed to stand in front of the church, in order that the congregation may hear what the preacher says? Cigarette smoke fogging in the vestibule, clog dances on the front steps, pencil scratching and writing over the plastering, and loud, coarse and boisterous language. This sort of things will culminate in the grand jury room one of these days, and then, somebody will be ashamed and mighty sorry.

Our entire stock of Hardware and Groceries are marked down to suit the times.

DIED.

At Sharpes Ore Bank, Oct. 4th. 1893, Maudie Sue, little daughter of J. T. and M. J. Willis, aged 5 yrs., passed quietly to the realm of spirits. She was sick but a short while, and was conscious to the end, and met the messenger of death with a smile, and calmly closed her sparkling eyes that will never know again the touch of tears, but will open and sparkle again on the distant banks of the mystic river.

Farewell My Home.

Farewell, my home, thou sacred spot;

To which my heart is bound,
Tomorrow in these vacant halls;
A stranger's voice will sound.

And I shall leave thee never more,
Within these rooms to dwell—
For strangers hold possession now,
And I must bid farewell.

No more I'll linger by the stream,
Nor rest beneath the tree;
Where fragrant leaves and branches sway,
Swept by the gentle breeze.

Yes, I must leave each sacred nook,
Which memory holds so dear;
And take a long and last fond look,
With many a sigh and tear.

But when afar in distant lands,
It be my lot to roam;
Still memory will return again,
To linger round my home.

Tho' other feet may tread these paths
And other eyes may gaze;
Upon the scenes I loved so well,
In the old and happy days.

The place to me remains unchanged,
And still my heart will thrill;
With memories of this sacred spot,
I'll love my old home still.

WHAT IS MORE

Stays To Tell The Story—Is Permanent.

Mr. Frank W. Hager, who is chief engineer of the Liberty Mill of this city, is a man to be believed, and to prove our assertions regarding the Electropoise we introduce his testimony as regards the cures effected by it.

In writing us Nov. 24, 1892, he says: My wife was taken very ill in April, 1890 with spinal meningitis; although several of the best physicians in the city attended her they did not relieve her, she was in bed and unable to move without aid.

"After trying everything available in the way of medical remedies we concluded in November 1891, to try the Electropoise. The result was wonderful, and she was up within six months and able to do her work. We left off the use of the instrument to see if the cure was permanent and it was proven so to be."

"You are at perfect liberty to refer anyone wishing to know about the Electropoise to me, and I will tell them more than I have written."

"Wishing you much success, I am, yours very truly,

Frank W. Hager
Chief Engineer Liberty Mills"
Nashville Tenn., Nov. 25, 1892.
For a fifty-page book just issued and giving full particulars as regards the Electropoise in every way apply to DuBois and Webb, 54, 56, 58, 60 and 61, Colebuilding, Nashville, Tenn.
